What a Summer!

Busy, busy and still busy. Fall into winter always brings that "get things done" attitude. When the snow comes and company starts to arrive, we can enjoy looking back at the year with a sense of accomplishment and pride. And we should be proud. The East Coast team pulled off another fantastic symposium, the West Coast is getting ready for a major exhibition in the spring, the Mid-West is set to take on Open Water next fall and Ontario has just finished hosting a meet and greet plus a fantastic Open Water in Toronto. Be proud. All of us across the country are working together.

I had a letter recently from a Member who was feeling isolated. After talking to them and sharing that they weren't the only isolated Members, for example our Newsletter Editor is from Northern BC, our Vice-President lives in Antigonish, NS and we have one sole Member in Newfoundland, this Member is willing now to get in touch with their Regional Director and find ways to share information about the Society in their city. It reinforced a belief I have, that you get extra out of an experience when you participate.

Many of us do live outside of the highly populated Membership areas and can often feel that the news comes from somewhere beyond our reach. This is why our newsletters and web pages are critical to seeing what is happening with all of our Members, our Associates and in our regions. Participate by sending a picture of you with your painting, news of your exhibitions or involvement in a local event. We need our Members to be pro-active in sharing regional information. If you don't say anything, we can't hear you.

All of us across the country
working together

Message from the President
Message du Président

In some areas, awareness of the Society isn't very strong and as Members, we are often asked "What do the initials after our name mean? Society of what?" Unfortunately, that leaves some of us fumbling for an explanation. Even I often freeze when reaching into my cluttered mind and forget to share some of the important points about the Society! So we have created a one-page information sheet for all of you, describing who we are, what we do and how to participate. It is available on our web page under Member News. Don't hesitate to print a couple off to have ready when you have an open house studio tour, go to the art supply store or teach classes within your region.

The deadline for Membership has just passed and we are always delighted to see all of the different regions represented by the applicants. How did they find out about us? We discover it is usually because a Member has initiated interest in the Society or they have entered Open Water. As a result, I am hoping after the New Year to work on a new power point presentation that any Member could comfortably use. The goal is that you could present this resource easily to local arts groups in your area. This could be a chance to talk about you, your art and your participation in CSPWC. A win/win for everybody.

Check out the Open Water article. I applaud the Award winners of Open Water 2012, as it was an amazing collection of works presented this year by the 40 artists selected to exhibit at the J.B. Aird Gallery. Also, the Board sincerely thanks all of those who Volunteered: the jury, the transporters getting the paintings to the Gallery, the planners preparing for the reception and the sitters taking care of the Gallery during the exhibition. We do put on one great show!

Keep your laughter hearty and your brush wet!

WESTERN ONTARIO

by Joanne Lucas Warren

Going National, Oct 28th, at the Cambridge Centre for the Arts, was a most successful event! 52 artists from Windsor to Oakville arrived on the windy rainy Sunday. There was information on 'How to become a Member', painting critiques, history of the society, and demonstrations. 15 new Associates registered for 2013.

Special thanks to the outstanding CSPWC Team, Doug Mays, Stoney Creek; Peter Marsh, Agincourt; Alan Darling, Toronto; Brigitte Schreyer, and Donna Fratesi, Burlington; Mark Rosser, Brampton; Barbara Augustine, Cambridge; and Associate, Tina Price, Cambridge.

And a thank you to the sponsors for the draw prizes: art supplies from Doug Mays, Currys; Wynham Art Supplies, Guelph; and Linda Kemp, including her book Watercolor Painting Outside the Lines.

NEWS ON THE ARTS

JOHN BENNETT IN NATIONAL POST

John Bennett, long term honoured CSPWC member, was featured in a National Post article, Nov 10, 2012, check it out at <http://tinyurl.com/jbwarartist>. At 93 John continues to paint every day which is an inspiration to all of us.

PAINTING CANADA ONLINE

As mentioned in the last Art News the Painting Canada: Tom Thompson and the Group of Seven exhibition is running at the McMichael Gallery until January 6, 2013 so you still have time to take it in. For those of us unable to make the trip there is an online component here: <http://tinyurl.com/mcm-symposium> that provides a look at some of the images and a selection of 11 videos of talks given at a Symposium at the McMichael on November 4, 2012. All of them are interesting but one on Tom Thompson's oil sketches and another on Lawren Harris are fascinating.

OPEN WATER 2012

by Katherine Zarull

An excellent crowd gathered on Thursday October 25th at the John B. Aird Gallery in Toronto for the Opening Reception and Presentation of Awards for Open Water 2012, the 87th Annual Open Juried Exhibition of the Canadian Society of Painters in Water Colour. From flowing abstracts to colourfully realistic paintings, the exhibition showed an amazing range of styles, techniques and subject matter this year. The Jury, Pat Fairhead, Marc Gagnon and Betty Ann Jordan, did a superb job in selecting the 16 Award winners the previous day from the 40 paintings on display. The excitement on opening night was magical with Artists, friends and sponsors mingling and catching up on news from the past year.

The A.J. Casson Medal winner, Daniel Barkley, came from Montreal to attend the reception and was tickled to chat with Ray Cattell. "Connecting with CSPWC history" he said was great. Past President Peter Marsh's grandson at five was the youngest attendee and was impressed with Daniel's medal. Mark Rosser came from Brampton with Marlene Madole, Past President, and was delighted to meet up with Bonnie Kievet, Manager of Wholesale sales at Woolfitt's as she had special ordered the actual paper for his Woolfitt's prize winning painting. Sally Jarvis Sloan, Honourary Member and sponsor of the Jarvis Award not only awarded one of her two SJ Sloan awards to Liane Bedard but followed up by purchasing the painting before the award was even announced!

Opening the evening was, Ernestine Tahedl, President of the J.B. Aird Gallery, who brought greetings from their Board, acknowledging the longstanding support of the CSPWC for the Gallery. Katherine Zarull, Chair and MC for the night, had thankful and happy emails to read out from each of those artists who could not be present but who had won awards.

It is always fun to meet the Sponsors who can make it out to events like this, especially when they are so supportive of our exhibition. This year we were pleased again to receive Bill Waters from Curry's lugging his huge four bags of goodies and Birgit Cooper, President of Heinz Jordan, also buried under an armload of wonderful artist goodies. The award winners were so proud and loved the chance to thank them directly. Of course, the box with 248 tubes of wonderful watercolour from Daniel Smith always garners a hush from the crowd.

Virginia May did a great job again single handedly putting together a small feast of treats to munch on. The catalogue available for sale at the opening and the Call to Enter were beautiful - thanks to the efforts of our magical designer Doug Dreidgeran and Murielle LeBlanc for the French translation. Thank you also for the hard work of Heidi Burkhardt, Martha West Gayford, Virginia May, Karin Isenburg and Peter Marsh in getting the paintings to and from the gallery. One of the duties we also have at the J.B. Aird Gallery is sitting the exhibition. Thanks to the hard work of Anita Cotter and Doug Baxter. The following gracefully did shifts and some more than once. Thank you to Peter Marsh, Don Baxter, Maurice Snelgrove, Nola McConnan (Associate), Vera Bobson (Associate), Gill Cameron, Karin Isenburg, Bianka Guna, Mark Rosser, E.J. (Jane) Hunter, Angela Lynch (Associate), Marilena Isacescu, Virginia May, Alan Darling, John Lasruk (Associate), Liane Bedard, Inge Tajik (Associate), Linda Baker Cole (Associate), Joan Heeler (Associate), and regular Aird Volunteers: Hana Lenoff, Anne Novics and Judy Sketton for taking the time to be available to answer questions and take sales. There were three paintings sold during the exhibition. What a fun night! We all hope to see your work included next year at the Leighton Centre in Calgary, so keep your eye out for the Call to Entry in the spring.

MARY ANNE LUDLAM

How did becoming an artist happen for you?

Health issues forced me to leave the contract design world. For 20 years I had designed head offices, medical clinics, lawyer's offices, golf clubs, VIP lounges and showrooms. Since I still had a pretty creative mind, out of frustration I joined a local art group and started all over again.

How do you begin? What "calls" you to paint a particular subject?

The world around me. I'm walking to the post office. I pass the local fruit stand. A great composition is there, yelling "look at me." I'm driving to the cottage. I see terrific shadows across a wheat field. Shapes, colours and moods of each season of the year. Always finding something great out of the commonplace.

Which mediums do you use?

Watercolour was the medium which enabled me to find my own way. After studying pencil, pen and ink, egg tempera and gouache, finding watercolour was a joy. The use of transparent watercolour allowed me to render well. My subtle and unique colours are achieved by many transparent layers applied over many days. Recently, I'm finding fluid acrylics are giving me a similar experience.

Do you set a plan, or does the painting take on a life of its own?

Because I lived at a drafting board for so many years, designing, planning, specifying colours and furniture, I cannot help but use the same work habits when creating a painting. Quick coloured sketches on drafting paper enable me to co-ordinate basic thoughts before I pick up a brush.

Describe when/how you use your artistic intuition?

Usually a thought will pass through my mind when I'm doing a household chore. Usually it's related to current experiences. It's like a ball rolling down a hill. It is often related to a show I'm working on. The more works I create, the more creative these images become. A sudden situation makes me stop and think "what if?"

Graduating from the Ontario College of Art in 1954, Mary Anne spent the next 25 years as a prominent designer with clients including Elizabeth Arden, the Canadian Cancer Society, General Electric and the first head office for the Toronto Blue Jays. When

What is the best advice you ever received?

Carl Schaefer saying about my work "That's pretty good, just get better". Learn how nature works, the sky, the water, the snow, and expressing perspective through colour.

What attracts you to and makes you admire others' work? i.e. subject/style/medium?

Uniqueness, a new and different point of view, an unusual colour composition or colour harmony, competence and last of all, passion.

What is your studio like?

I have to confess it is well designed – a place for everything. Well lit with walls of natural light. Still the designer in me.

What challenges have you yet to accomplish?

To overcome my frustrations over my physical co-ordination problems. My health issue is a case of cerebral palsy which was not diagnosed until I was in my 40's. My hands and arms shake constantly so I learned to do things my own way. I have to support my arm on the drafting board to minimize the tremors.

Where are you going next with your art?

As Carl said "just get better". To use all the knowledge I have accumulated going to workshops, travelling with painting pals, collecting, feeling like a kid in Art supply stores, seeing my efforts hang in a gallery and encouraging others to do the same.

What advice would you give?

Develop your unique self. Remember, when viewing a group show, one should not have to look at the name tag for identification. Stop, look and listen, consider new ideas and techniques, explore for new materials.

health issues forced her to retire she turned to watercolour painting and has had paintings in over 70 juried shows and many major awards. Her passion is to make us look at something ordinary and realize how amazing it really is.

WINNING AWARDS ACROSS THE BORDER

HAROLD ALLANSON (Gabriola Island, BC) received his signature status from the Transparent Watercolor Society of America (TWSA) at their awards dinner in Kenosha, WI this past June. Halibut Catcher, his third accepted painting won the third place award. Both of his two earlier accepted paintings won awards as well (Red Snapper, second place and Lifting Fog Port Alberni, People's Choice).

The Boys by Harold Allanson

He also had The Boys juried into the International Guild of Realism's 7th Annual Exhibition in Carmel, CA in September 2012 and it will also be shown in the FCA

Spilsbury Medal Show this December. First Steps is presently on it's way to Spain along with four other FCA watercolour artist's works, to be part of the AEDA (The Association of Spanish Watercolour Painters equivalent to the CSPWC) 2013 Biennial watercolour exhibition in Madrid in the new year. In addition he contributed to Canada's Rain Coast at Risk project.

During 2012 he taught workshops at Gabriola Island, Port Alberni, FCA Fraser Valley Chapter, and the Nanaimo Art Group. He tries to restrict his workshops to 4 per year in order to allow plenty of painting time. Check out his website <http://www.haroldallanson.com/index.html> for more information.

NEW BRUNSWICK PAINTING TRIP

In September CSPWC members Heidi Burkhardt, Tony Batten, Maurice Snelgrove, and artist Kim Atkins, along with Maurice's wife Sheila, took off on a two week painting trip that would focus on the area surrounding the historic community of St Andrew's, New Brunswick. The town sits immediately north of the coastal USA-Canada border and is known affectionately as St Andrews on Sea. Long famed for its Edwardian era summer homes and its "Gilded Age" connections it is a very active coastal community with enormous historic interest. For any artist it is the unique combination of beautiful and varied architecture and magnificent coastal scenery that is the big draw.

The Hillcrest, St. Andrews

Heidi Burkhardt at the Veranda Sale

presented private home Hillcrest's living room is famed as the setting for Irving Berlin's eventual proposal to his beloved wife.

The Boyles, the current owners of the house, gave their artist guests the run of the place and even turned over a rustic tool shed as a studio space on the day that rain interfered with any hope of plein-air work. A highlight of the stay was being invited to several "verandah parties" that were hosted in other Golden Age "cottages" in the area. Those hosts were in turn invited to a "verandah sale" of work by the visiting artists and everyone on the trip had work snapped up by both Canadian and American collectors.

While they were in the area they took painting and sketching trips to neighbouring Minister's Island long famed for its associations with Sir William Van Horne and to the unique Campobello Island International Historic Site. In keeping with their own accommodations they were able to tour the historic Roosevelt family cottage - with its eighteen or so bedrooms - and its long association with FDR.

The two weeks sped by in a productive blur of painting, sketching, photographing and socializing in the most beautiful settings imaginable.

WORLD WATERCOLOUR DAY: NOVEMBER 23

Peter Marsh, former CSPWC President, headed off for school on November 23. World Water Colour Day 2012 at Vradenberg Public School in Toronto was an interesting day for the students in Ms Jones' Grade 2 class. Students got to discuss all the fruits and vegetables in the still life composition. They also learned how to draw them and then how to paint them in watercolours.

Almost every student chose to forego recess breaks so that they could stay in and do their paintings! The students thought Peter should come back every week so maybe he will try to fit a couple more days in before the end of the school year. Everyone had a great time and this is a terrific way to introduce young students to watercolour painting.

Thank you to Peter Marsh for sharing his knowledge and encouraging young artists on World Watercolour Day
